Izzy inspires boost to aid cancer cause

By Dominic Thomas

AN Oxford biker has had his long beard shaved off in memory of an inspirational young girl who lost her life to cancer.

Businessman Ahad Ghanbury, decided to lose his much-loved whiskers to raise money for the charity Cancer Research UK after meeting seven-year-old Izzy Sewell from near Abingdon, who passed away on May 18.

• Izzy with her mum Nicola

Izzy, who died after being diagnosed with Wilms cancer in December, was a big motorcycle fan, and was taken on a ride by Mr Ghanbury biker group shortly before she passed away.

Mr Ghanbury said: "Her mother was a friend of a friend of mine who organised this bike ride with different groups from all over Oxfordshire, who turned up.

"We spent a few hours with her on the ride."

He added: "I was so touched by the way she was always smiling and happy, even when she must have been in so much pain.

"I felt I had to do something. I wanted to do something that meant something to me, and I had always been very proud of my beard, so I decided to shave it off."

His charitable effort has raised more than £1,200 in sponsorship - over twice his original target of £500 - for Cancer

Couple raise cash to help Ghanaian boy

By George Welch

A LIFE-CHANGING operation was due to take place at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital for a three-year-old boy from Ghana.

Ethan Suglo suffers from a serious condition called Exomphalos, which allows some of his organs to be outside his abdomen rather than inside.

The condition could have proved fatal for Ethan had he not been able to travel to Britain for medical help.

Ethan and his father, Charles, came to the UK last month for the operation as his local surgery in Ghana had neither the expertise or facilities to carry out such a procedure.

The boy, from Ghana's Volta region, was given the hope of help after meeting British doctors David and Jacquie Williams when they visited Ghana.

The couple, of Stretton-on-Fosse, Warwickshire, met Ethan's father at a radio station where he works while visiting their daughter Laura who was doing voluntary work in the west African country.

After their trip to Ghana last year, the Williams' looked to see if Ethan's condition could be treated in the UK. They found consultant paediatric surgeon Dr Hugh Grant who agreed to operate on Ethan at the JR.

Ethan and his father arrived in Britain two weeks ago, but had to wait for Ethan to recover from a chest infection before the operation could go ahead.

Mr and Mrs Williams, who started fundraising in March, worked with the charity Willing & Abel which helps children in developing countries receive treatment. The charity pledged £10,000.

The couple have raised more than £30,000 to pay for Ethan's travel, operation and follow-up treatment in Ghana, but might need more funds to deal with any complications that might arise.

A spokesman for Willing & Abel said: "Ethan is such a happy little boy, eating all the time and like most three-year-olds, full of energy. His chest infection is getting better and he is having some physio to help his breathing. Thanks again to everyone for their support."

The charity is appealing for donations to help Ethan and other children from developing nations requiring specialist surgery.

It has more than 20 children that it is helping to have surgical procedures.

Couple complete homemade stickers for album

AN OXFORD couple who filled a Euro 2016 football album with their own drawings instead of the official stickers marked the end of their project by drawing the moment of the tournament.

Husband and wife Alex and Sian Pratchett, of Iffley Road, Oxford, aimed to draw by hand their versions of all the 800 Panini stickers in just 30 days for charity.

And while they achieved their overall goal by completing the 800th player with 13 minutes to spare, the drawing of Portugal's injured star Cristiano Ronaldo with a moth on his face was probably the most memorable.

The drawing depicted the moment when the moth landed on Real Madrid star Ronaldo as he lay injured on the pitch before being stretchered off.

Known as the 'Panini Cheapskates', the couple successfully drew all the players from the 24 competing countries from the start of the tournament on June 10 to the kick-off of the final between Portugal and France at 8pm on Sunday.

Belgian winger Nacer Chadli was the final player to be drawn, just 13 minutes before the final started.

The couple have been posting their progress on a blog called 'Panini Cheapskates' and set up a Twitter account, which has attracted 7,000 followers since starting.

They said: "We cannot draw a jot, but people from Brazil to Iran to Japan to Mexico seemed to like our wonky drawings, and we ended up in a book, a micro-documentary film and an exhibition."

The couple also raised £3,218 for their chosen charities, Cancer Research UK and Macintyre Charities.

Home fraud fine

CHIPPING NORTON: A woman has been fined £370 for fraudulently obtaining a social housing property.

Victoria Watts, 23, of Chipping Norton, was found guilty under the Fraud Act 2006 at Oxford Magistrates Court on June 28.

Miss Watts failed to declare her change of address, and was given a home that would otherwise have been offered to another family in need of housing.

She falsely reported that she was still living with her parents.

Body found

OXON: A body found in Oxford on Tuesday afternoon is believed to be that of a missing woman from Woodstock.

Formal identification is yet to take place, but it is thought to be that of 45-year-old Sara McDonald.

She was reported missing after last being seen in Woodstock on Monday.

The body was found in Shotover Park, Headington. Her next of kin has been informed.

Detective Inspector Jim Holmes, of St Aldate's Police Station, said: "Sadly we are no longer appealing for information on the whereabouts of Sara McDonald."

Assault charges

WITNEY: A man has appeared in court charged with the sexual assault and wounding of a woman on Langdale Common.

Callum King, 24, of Priory Mill Lane, Witney, appeared via video link for a pre-trial review at Oxford Crown Court, having been charged on June 10.

The charges relate to an attack on a woman on Langdale Common in the early hours of June 4.

King is due for a further hearing on August 19.

Man, 25, drowned as a result of medical episode

Bath death 'an accident'

By Dominic Thomas

A CORONER has ruled that the death of a 25-year-old man who drowned in the bath was an accident.

Ryan Brown, 25, who lived in Draymans Walk, Abingdon, was found drowned in his bath at home on January 16, 2016.

The coroner, Darren Salter, concluded the inquest on Thursday after it had been opened on January 28 and part-heard on May 4.

He ruled that Mr Brown drowned after suffering a loss of consciousness while in the bath as a result of a medical episode.

While the cause of the medical episode was unclear, consultant pathologist Doctor Ian Roberts suggested that it was likely that this was caused by either complications from his ketamine abuse or the high levels of the painkiller Buprenorphine that were found in his blood.

Mr Brown was found to have had kidney disease from years of ketamine abuse, which his GP reported had been causing him chronic pain.

The pathologist explained that his condition could result in renal failure, and could have caused a loss of consciousness.

Dr Roberts, speaking of the Buprenorphine levels, added: "The significance of this depends on his tolerance to the drug. Those levels are sufficient to cause death in individuals who are opiate-naïve.

"I'm aware that he was a prescribed them in November. If he hadn't taken them for several months and taken lots of them, then it's likely that they would have been toxic, causing reduced consciousness levels or coma."

It is thought one of these possibilities caused Mr Brown to inhale water and drown. His grandmother, who had not seen him since Boxing Day, discovered him at his flat on January 16. He is presumed to have died a few days earlier, in the early hours of January 12.

The inquest had been adjourned from May 4 to rule out foul play after concerns over bruising found on Mr Brown's shoulder and the fact that his door was found unlocked.

But this was ruled out by the coroner, with the bruising reported by the pathologist to be injection sites from taking ketamine, and police inquiries finding that there was no evidence at the scene to suggest anybody else involved in his death.

Detective Sergeant Rachel Carter said: "I don't think there is anything suspicious and I don't think anybody else caused his death."

Recording his verdict, Mr Salter said: "On the 12 of January Ryan drowned after taking a bath at his home likely due to a medical episode resulting in a loss of consciousness.

"My conclusion is accidental death by drowning. The cause of death was drowning due to ketamine abuse and also probably due to Buprenorphine toxicity."

Research UK Kids and Teens.

Mr Ghanbury, who is no stranger to charity fundraising, having grown the beard two years ago for prostate cancer charity the Distinguished Gentlemen's Ride, said: "Cancer Research UK seemed to be the natural cause to support.

"I'm a big supporter of it because cancer is such a big killer and I think more money should go into research so that one day they can find a cure."

Izzy's mum, Nicola Sewell, of Kingston Baguize, paid tribute to his efforts, saying: "I'd like to pay thanks to him. I think meeting Izzy is probably what prompted him to do it. She would always be smiling no matter how much pain she was going through.

"She touched a lot of people's hearts and, as her mother, I'm proud that she was such an inspirational person."

She described how Izzy became a fan of motorcycles: "She was always a bit of a tomboy. Up until she the age of six she'd refuse to wear a skirt, and when we'd go on holiday, she'd never be happy just to sit on a boat or anything, she'd always want to be driving it."

Nicola also paid tribute to her childhood friend Shelley Craft, who organised the bike ride and a biker's send-off at Izzy's funeral, which saw more than 50 motorcyclists ride through Kingston Bagpuize in her honour.

"If it wasn't for Shelley, I wouldn't have half of the memories that I have with Izzy.

"She deserves an award."

Abingdon's Abbey Meadow outdoor pool to be rebuilt

ABINGDON'S outdoor pool is to be rebuilt after more than 700 people signed a petition calling for it to be refurbished.

Vale of White Horse District Council's leader Matthew Barber this week pledged the ageing Abbey Meadow Outdoor Pool will be replaced following a boost in popularity of people using it.

Works on the pool are on top of a £600,000 development of improvements to Abbey Meadow itself.

Friends of Abbey Meadow Outdoor Pool chairman Elizabeth Simpson said: "It's wonderful news.

"Abbey Meadow pool has been a community asset for generations to enjoy healthy outdoor swimming and diving, and the new pool should build on its best features and include a much wanted beach area to improve still more the water activity area which includes the splash pad."

Campaigners have been calling for repairs to the pool since the council said last year they would not be closing it and filling it in.

Within the last two weeks 765 people have signed a petition – which details problems including the pool lining cutting children's feet.

And last week council staff found serious maintenance problems with the pool which would need extensive works to fix.

The council decided it would be more cost effective to replace the pool completely.

A short term repair has been completed so that the pool can stay open until mid-September.

Swimming lessons and extra residents are currently using the pool while Abingdon's indoor pool at White Horse Leisure and Tennis Centre is closed for maintenance.

Works began on July 4 and it expected to be completed in mid-September.

Pool campaigner Peter Harbour said he is 'delighted' at the news, and added that members of Friends of Abbey Meadow Outdoor Pool are looking forward to discussions with Vale council about plans for the pool.

Designs for the area surrounding the pool were unveiled in April and include a new picnic area, public toilets and changing rooms, and two upgraded adventure playgrounds, one for younger and one for older children.

Mr Barber said: "Many people in the Vale are very passionate about the outdoor pool and I have always promised that when the existing pool came to the end of its life we would find a long term solution.

"Good to our word, we have now reached that stage and will immediately begin working up plans to replace the existing pool."

Teacher takes on seven marathons in four days

A TEACHER has battled through a mammoth challenge, running the distance of seven marathons in four days.

Catherine Duff from near Faringdon, who teaches PE at Manor Prep School in Abingdon, ran the entire length of the Thames Path starting last Friday and finishing on Tuesday.

The 184-mile feat from Coates in Gloucestershire to the Thames Barrier in London has raised more than £22,400 so far in aid of a charity horse-riding centre in North Wales set up by her mum which offers riding holidays for disabled children.

The Clwyd Riding Centre in Llanfynydd is the only centre of its kind in Britatin and was launched by Anne Sopwith.

Mrs Duff, pictured, who lives in Littleworth, said: "It all started 34 years ago with my mother taking children around on a donkey."

She added: "These people do have physical and mental disabilities but when they are on a horse they are the same as we are and the disability goes. It's a form of therapy for them, known as hippotherapy. It gives them so much confidence and it's wonderful to see."

Mrs Duff only finished the school term the day before her challenge.

She joked: "It's a good way to start my holidays off, but I think I'm going to need the rest of them to recover!"

Police identify man as murder probe goes on

By George Welch

A MAN who died last week following an incident in North Oxford has been named by police as a murder investigation continues.

The 53-year-old, who passed away on Friday, July 1, at the John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford, has been identified as Jack Phipps, of Oxford.

A post-mortem has taken place but work continues to establish the cause of death.

Mr Phipps' death followed an incident in Harefields, off Banbury Road, in which it is believed he was injured on June 21. He was admitted to hospital on June 22.

A 48-year-old man from Oxford was arrested on Wednesday last week on suspicion of murder and he is in police custody. Officers confirmed they had been given extra time to detain the suspect as he had received medical treatment while in custody.

Senior investigating officer, acting Chief Inspector Ailsa Kent, of the Major Crime Unit, said: "Our thoughts are with the family of Mr Phipps at what must be a very difficult time for them, and we are offering them support.

"We are still investigating the circumstances of this incident and I would like to appeal for anyone who thinks they might have any information about this incident to get in touch with us."

Police released a picture of Mr Phipps in the hope it helps witnesses remember the incident. They can be contacted on 101.

New Comet service launched

A NEW bookable transport service for the county set up for people without access to other public transport has been unveiled by Oxfordshire County Council.

The first sighting of the Oxfordshire Comet was in Stanton Harcourt on Tuesday with the bus set to be in action on weekdays between 10.15am and 2.30pm.

The 16-seater Oxfordshire Comet uses county council vehicles that normally take children to school and adults to day care centres.

The council's transport planning team identified the times of the day when they were not being used and are making them available to residents.

The service has been designed to fill the transport gap in areas where people might not have suitable access to public transport and for people with mobility issues.

• The Oxfordshire Comet

County council leader Ian Hudspeth said: "This is a fantastic example of us thinking outside the box and offers an affordable, pre-bookable, pre-paid service that can be used by individuals or groups if they don't have access to public transport. It has been developed following feedback by parishes, residents and councillors across the county.

"It is a cost-effective solution for the people of Oxfordshire because we already own the vehicles and, therefore, only have to cover running costs, meaning we can keep costs down for passengers."

County councillor Charles Mathew said: "This is a most welcome additional facility to the Lower Windrush Valley, which is losing its county council subsidised bus (the number 18) on July 20."

There are already discussions to establish set routes.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

New hospital unit backed

By Dominic Thomas

A PLANNED accommodation unit for families visiting sick children at Oxford Children's Hospital has been given the go-ahead.

Ronald McDonald House Charities, which provides free 'home away from home' accommodation for families at hospitals nationwide, had applied to Oxford City Council to expand its existing facilities at the hospital, off Headley Way.

Approved unanimously last week by the east area planning committee, the charity will now be able to push ahead with its scheme for a purpose-built, 62-bedroom block on the hospital campus to enable it to meet a rising demand.

The hospital is recognised as a major centre for child healthcare and increasingly take children and their families from across the country, including Northern Ireland, to receive vital care.

The charity's executive director, Jon Haward said: "We are delighted to have received the good news that planning permission has been granted last week. The charity will now consider the next steps with the hospital and partners regarding funding and timing of the new development.

"A capital appeal has not been ruled out to raise the necessary funds. Similar projects have been in the region of £10-£13 million."

The charity opened a 17-bedroom house on the top floor of the hospital in 2007. Last year, it helped more than 650 families.

However, demand continually outstrips supply, particularly with the need to extend the service to support families of babies in intensive care.

Cllr David Henwood, the committee's vice chair, said: "The presentation was well received and we can see a need for families visiting sick children at the John Radcliffe.

"The centre will extend the number of beds to 72, with brand new facilities and parking to accommodate parents and families on the site, which will reduce the number of care journeys in the area.

"It brings our services up in terms of being able to provide the best possible care for children and their parents coming from further afield."

Jailed for sex abuse

TWO men have been sentenced to a total of more than 20 years in prison for the sexual exploitation and rape of a girl in Oxford.

The offences related to one female victim between January 3, 2005 and March 28, 2007.

Salik Miah, 34, of Ferry Hinksey Road, Oxford, was charged with one count of conspiracy of rape, two counts of rape and one count of arranging or facilitating child prostitution.

He was convicted of all four charges and sentenced to 11 years' imprisonment.

Azad Miah, 37, of Riverside Court, Oxford, was charged with one count of conspiracy to rape, two counts of rape and one count of arranging or facilitating child prostitution. He was also convicted of all the charges against him and sentenced to 12 years in prison.

A jury deliberated for three days before returning their verdicts at Oxford Crown Court on Thursday.

The charges related to a Thames Valley Police investigation known as Operation Spur.

Following the verdicts, Det Insp Ali Driver, of the force's Major Crime Unit, said: "First and foremost, I am delighted for the victim in this case, who suffered horrendous abuse at the hands of these men.

"I hope that with these convictions today she can feel a sense of justice."

Accolade awarded for tackling homophobia

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE County Council has been named in the top-10 local authorities for tackling homophobic, biphobic and transphobic bullying in schools.

The accolade has been awarded to the council by Stonewall, Britain's lesbian, gay, bi and trans equality charity.

It also praised how the council encourages celebrating differences in its schools.

Stonewall, which published its Education Equality Index 2016 on Friday, listed the top-10 local authorities in Britain – Oxfordshire County Council came joint sixth alongside Leicestershire County Council.

• The Oxfordshire County Council HQ

The index measures practice and policy at all of the 50 participating local authorities, which submitted to the 2016 index.

The charity championed how the council created a multi-level Equality Champion School award to encourage schools to improve their practice in relation to preventing and tackling homophobic, biphobic and transphobic bullying. The county council set up a multi-agency homophobic, biphobic and transphobic action group, which meets on a termly basis.

Melinda Tilley, the county council's cabinet member for children, education and families, said: "We are very pleased to be ranked once again among the country's very best local authorities for tackling this issue and are continuing to work with schools and other settings as part of our wider anti-bullying work.

"Any young person can experience homophobic, biphobic or transphobic bullying and, like all forms of bullying, it should never be allowed to go unchallenged."

Stonewall's Teachers' Report 2014 found that more than 90 per cent of primary school staff and eight in 10 secondary school teachers said they had not received specific training on how to tackle homophobic and biphobic bullying.

Sarah Rose, senior account manager at Stonewall, said: "We have seen phenomenal work from all of those local authorities that have participated in this year's Education Equality Index – in particular our top 10.

"Oxfordshire County Council has shone with its incredible initiatives and work with and for young people, and is role modelling behaviour in its commitment to fighting bullying and discrimination."

Cowley Carnival proves a cracker

By Dominic Thomas

EAST Oxford came alive this Sunday for its biggest and brightest event of the year - Cowley Road Carnival.

Tens of thousands of people poured on to the road and its surrounding streets to enjoy the afternoon's entertainment, celebrating the area's many different and diverse cultures.

With over 25 performance stages and a new family zone, this year promised to be bigger and better than ever before.

More than 800 people took part in the day's main event, the procession through the road, which saw 37 different groups parade under the theme of 'All the world's a stage' in celebration of Shakespeare's 400th anniversary this year, and was led by a metal elephant ridden by Lord Mayor Mohammed Altaf-Khan.

First-time carnival organiser Johanna Ainsley said: "The weather came out for carnival and the people followed. There was a fantastic atmosphere and feel of good will.

"It was a great success for my first carnival with lots of ideas for improvements next year.

"Thanks to the people of Oxfordshire for coming down and enjoying our party. The food was mouth-watering and curious in equal amounts, and it was special to see so many different colours, creeds, languages, families and friends all celebrating life together."

Councillor Altaf-Khan said: "I think it is a fantastic event which brings all the community together. It is one of the biggest events of the year with 45,000 people from across the city and the county to enjoy."

Revellers turned out in their droves to enjoy the melting pot of different music food and cultural spectacles.

Mark Knight, 30, of Iffley, said there was a special feeling to this year's carnival in light of recent events: "It feels like more important this year because of all the stuff that's been happening with the EU vote to celebrate the fact that we've got so many amazing communities."

From jerk chicken to Thai curries, there was cuisine available from around the world to enjoy at food stalls that lined the streets. Several walls of sound also sat side by side to showcase the area's diverse cultural scene, from the Asian music stage to reggae and indie music.

Carnival-goers were asked to contribute £1 towards their afternoon which costs £150,000 to organise.

The event receives core funding of £30,000 a year from Oxford City Council and chief sponsors include Oxford Brookes University, the Bullingdon bar, and MINI Plant Oxford.

Rob Bailey, 44, of East Avenue: "This is probably one of the most vibrant and busy ones in many years, it's fantastic."

Yasmin Shinneik (right), of Morrell Avenue: " It's amazing, it's such a diverse environment and all the food is good."

Refusal recommended for Tesco

By Samantha McGregor

PLANS to build a Tesco supermarket in Thame have been recommended for refusal by council officers.

The supermarket giant want to demolish the current industrial building in Kingsmead Business Park, and build a store, petrol station and car park.

South Oxfordshire District Council's planning officers raised concerns the out-of-town location of the supermarket would have an "adverse impact" on the "viability and vitality" of the town centre.

Officers also highlighted that the site, known as the DAF site, was currently designated for employment.

Councillors were discussing the application last night as the Guardian went to press.

Tesco's proposals have received a mixed reaction from residents. The council received a total of 688 letters from people supporting the application, and 513 opposing it.

Among the reasons given to support the outline plans was better choice for shoppers, and residents would be less likely to visit shops in other towns.

Residents also said there was a need for the supermarket because of the growing population in Thame and it would create jobs.

A petition supporting the supermarket proposal on the district council's website had 159 signatures.

Residents opposing the supermarket said it would have a negative impact on the town centre, it would impact nearby residential properties, increase traffic and mean the loss of an industrial employment site.

A petition handed in to the council had 1,858 signatures from people opposed to the plans.

Thame Town Council objected on the grounds that trade would be diverted from the town centre and claimed "the independent review of the retail impact assessment is inadequate as it is a review of the applicant's data rather than providing an independent retail study."

But Oxfordshire County Council's highways department said "traffic impact" from the development was deemed to be "acceptable", although there was likely to be increased queuing on Howland Road and Kingsey Road roundabout would be at capacity.

An earlier application by Tesco in 1996 was refused on the grounds it would have had a detrimental impact on the "vitality and viability" of Thame town centre and other local centres.

See next week's paper or oxfordshireguardian.co.uk for an update.

Officially open

BICESTER: Franklins House, the new home for Bicester Library and Cherwell District Council's office, has been officially opened.

Cherwell's vice chairman Cllr Maurice Billington cut the ribbon to declare the building, in Pioneer Square, open last week.

The five-storey building, which has been constructed on the former Franklins Yard carpark, marked the completion of phase two of Bicester town centre's regeneration.

It is also home to a Travelodge Hotel, offices and shop/restaurant units.

RAF cadet meets future kings

BICESTER-BASED air cadet Matt Soar has been rubbing shoulders with two future kings.

Matt, 19, was one of 12 RAF Air Cadets chosen to meet Prince George, Prince William and Kate, the Duchess of Cambridge, during preparations for the Royal International Air Tattoo, at RAF Fairford, Gloucestershire, earlier this month.

Matt, who is a member of 2507 (Bicester) Squadron Air Training Corps and hopes to join the RAF as a fast jet pilot, said: "Meeting Prince George was unreal. I never saw myself in this position before joining the air cadets.

"Now I've met seven members of the Royal family, including the Queen. Prince George was wearing his ear defenders, and really seemed to love all the aircraft."

During the Royal Visit, the Duchess of Cambridge – who is the Patron of the RAF Air Cadets – met 12 air cadets in celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the Air Training Corps.

Earlier, more than 750 air cadets staged a massed parade in front of the RAF's most senior officer, Air Chief Marshal Sir Andrew Pulford, and the Air Cadets' Ambassador, Honorary Group Captain Carol Vorderman.

Matt is currently on a gap year, but he plans to join the RAF and hopes to fly the UK's new supersonic stealth fighter, the F-35B Lightning, which made its debut at the air show.

Mum pedals to Paris to help Skye cancer cause

By Dominic Thomas

A MUM-OF-THREE will get on her bike next week to raise money for a charity inspired by a five-year-old Abingdon boy.

Judy Tollet, 54, of Goring, will join a hundred other cyclists on their way from London to Paris to raise money for the Guardian's charity of the year, Blue Skye Thinking, between July 20 and 24.

She will average 120km per day on the course from London to Paris, finishing at the Eiffel Tower in time to see the conclusion of the Tour de France on the Champs Elysees.

The charity was set up by Abingdon parents Sally and Andrew Hall, who lost their son Skye in 2014 from side-effects of treatment for medulloblastoma, an aggressive and cancerous brain tumour.

Judy said: "My son, Joe, attended Abingdon School and came to know Mr Hall both as head of sport and as his teacher. Whilst at Abingdon, Joe raised money for Blue Skye Thinking taking part in the Reading Half Marathon.

"I am a teacher at Moulsford Prep School, where coincidentally the chosen charity is Blue Skye Thinking. When the opportunity presented itself to cycle to Paris, it seemed an obvious choice of charity.

"As a mother of three and a teacher, the heartbreaking story behind the charity has inspired me to rise to the challenge of cycling to Paris."

All the money the charity raises goes to research into new treatments for childhood cancer.

Judy will be taking part in the challenge with friend Stella Beazley, who is raising money for Oxford charity Homestart, which helps mothers.

Mrs Hall, founder of Blue Skye Thinking, said: "I wish Judy and Stella the best of luck for their cycle and hope the weather stays good for them."

Currently, just over one per cent of cancer funding goes towards research into brain tumours, the number one cancer killer in children and teenagers. The cure rates have not improved in 40 years.

Prime Minister-to-be attends opening ceremony for project

THE new Prime Minister-to-be visited a special needs school for the opening ceremony of a new project.

Home Secretary Theresa May was at John Watson School in Wheatley on Friday to help unveil the development of an outdoor learning area at the grade-I listed Venison House.

The visit was also a homecoming trip for the Maidenhead MP who attended Holton Park Girls' Grammar School before it closed, part of which included the Venison House.

The Venison House Project opening ceremony comprised presentations about the development of the project, music and drama performances, with more than 50 special needs pupils meeting Mrs May who became PM yesterday.

In addition, some pupils from the adjacent Wheatley Park School, who are also helping with the project, joined the opening ceremony.

The Venison House Project is funded by donations from the John Watson Parents' Association and local businesses.

The former grammar school closed in 1971 when it merged with The Shotover School in Wheatley to form Wheatley Park School.

Kitchen hob fire

ABINGDON: Three fire engines from Didcot and Abingdon attended a kitchen blaze in Sutton Courtenay sparked by a small pan fire on a hob last week.

Firefighters faced a small amount of smoke when they arrived at the home in Bradstocks Way at 6.32pm on Wednesday, July 6. The residents had been alerted by a smoke alarm and an elderly woman was treated for slight smoke inhalation.

Same EU uni fees

OXFORD: Following the UK's decision to leave the EU, Oxford Brookes University has guaranteed any EU students joining in the 2017/18 academic year will continue to pay EU level fees for the duration of their course.

Quirky words

OXFORD: Budgie smugglers, glamping and listicles are some of the more striking new entries to Oxford English Dictionary (OED).

A number of Internet slang acronyms such as FWIW and ICYMI have also made the new list. Comedian Catherine Tate's line of "bovver" also made the latest update of more than 1,000 new words. The next update is due in September.

Unexplained tourists cause a stir in village

By Dominic Thomas

BEWILDERED residents have been trying to explain an influx of Asian tourists taking pictures of houses and streets of Kidlington.

Several coachloads of tourists have been arriving at the village over the last few months and taking photos of some of the typically suburban houses before returning to their coach.

Resident Claire Winlow, who lives on The Moors in Kidlington, said: "They park on The Moors and take photos of some of the old houses, but also even some of the newer ones as well.

"I first noticed it a couple of months ago and I thought that it was a one off thing due to traffic or something, but it's become a regular thing now.

"They're not here for very long, only about half an hour. They get their selfie sticks out, have a walk around, take some photos and then leave again."

She hazarded a guess at a possible explanation.

"It's a bit like when I'm on holiday and walk around and take photos. I think it makes you feel a bit further removed from it when you're in a different country," she said.

"I can understand why because there are quite a few quaint, oldy-worldy villages around, and this may just be a good place to stop off the M40.

"I think it's quite amusing, but I guess if they are going into peoples gardens then maybe people might find it a bit intrusive."

Pictures of the tourists wondering round the streets of the village have gone viral on the internet and attracted national media interest.

Parish council chairman Maurice Billingdon said, "It's crazy but it's putting Kidlington on the map. We might get more money from the council now.

"I've been giving interviews all afternoon in my overalls, I've been too busy to take them off."

He also hypothesised on the phenomenon: "Apparently its because the houses in China are basic so the houses we have here are new to them. Even wheelie bins they've never seen before.

"It could be because we are the biggest village in the country, or Europe, apparently. But we don't know because they don't speak English."

"We would like them to spend a bit more money here. They do go into the pub sometimes!

"We will have to start selling cream teas."

Flooding scheme approved

PLANNING permission has been granted for a scheme to reduce the flood risk to 110 homes in Northway and Marston.

The Northway and Marston Flood Alleviation Scheme was given unanimous approval at Oxford City Council's east area planning committee meeting last Wednesday.

Work on phase one of the £2.2 million Oxford City Council scheme is to begin by autumn this year.

Northway and Marston have been hit by flash flooding from nearby Peasmoor Brook and the Headington Hill Tributary.

It can take as little as half an hour of torrential rain to flood properties in the area.

The scheme will include installing natural bunds, widening channels and creating a wetland reserve to use the open green space as temporary water storage during flooding at Northway Community Field, near Westland Drive, Saxon Way and Oxford Boxing Academy.

City councillor John Tanner said: "I am thrilled that the planning application has been backed unanimously by the committee.

"It's the first step in protecting more than 100 local families from flooding."

The planning application for phase two was submitted on June 9.

It focuses on work at Court Place Farm Recreation Ground and Peasmoor Piece, and will be decided at a meeting on September 7.

It is hoped the work on phase one and phase two will be completed in mid-2017.

Town benefits from eco title

A COUNCIL says since Bicester was designated an 'eco town' more than £50 million has been pledged to support its growth.

Cherwell District Council said since Bicester was given eco status in 2009 it had not only gained "national recognition" from the Government, but also attracted millions in funding.

The town has seen almost a 1,000 homes built since then – the majority on the new Kingsmere estate.

The first eco settlement residents moved into their homes earlier this year after building work on the first phase of the 6,000-home eco town started in 2014.

As well as new homes, the town centre has seen a major regeneration with a new Sainsbury's supermarket, a cinema, shops and restaurants.

Phase two comprising a new library, a Travelodge hotel, Cherwell council offices, retail units and other offices opened in April.

Garth Park in Launton Road has also received a £360,000 makeover with a new natural playground, café and public toilets.

It was funded by a Wren grant for £70,000 and £290,000 from Bicester Town Council's reserves.

By Samantha McGregor

Cherwell leader Cllr Barry Wood said: "Since Bicester was first awarded eco-town status in 2009, it has continued to gain national recognition by the Government.

"In 2014, it was designated as a Garden Town and this year was named as one of ten Healthy New Towns. This has helped to attract more than £50m in planned investment to help deliver not only the homes but the infrastructure and amenities which are needed to support the growth of the population.

"Some of this money has been spent on bringing forward key developments, some has been used to fund feasibility studies and a significant amount has been set aside for future projects. But, collectively, this demonstrates the very real investment that is being put into Bicester by public and private sector bodies which recognise value in the town's growth."

Elsewhere in the town, eco money has helped fund a boiler replacement scheme to the tune of £57,000 benefiting 54 homes.

And £41,000 of grant funding has been received to improve signage at Bure Park Nature Reserve.

The figures in Cherwell's adopted Local Plan state that between 2011 and 2031, a total of 10,129 new homes will be built across the town.

To date, 956 of them have been completed and a further 3,414 have planning consent but have yet to be built.

Gold ring stolen

BICESTER: Thieves broke into a property in Scampton Close and stole a gold ring.

They smashed a rear patio door to get in and "a messy search was conducted upstairs" on Wednesday, July 6, between 1.30pm and 2.30pm.

Anyone with information should call police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111, using crime reference number 43160185633.

Art talent

CHIPPING NORTON: Pupils from Kingham Hill School have been showing off their artistic talents.

Sixth formers exhibited their A-level artwork and photography to friends, family, staff and pupils in the Maths and Science building, which was transformed into a gallery.

Year 13 student Adrian Leung and Issy Tucker, in year 11, were chosen from hundreds of applicants to exhibit in the National Students' Exhibition, in The Mall Galleries, in London, this week.

Grants made

THAME: Community organisations have benefited to the tune of £19,000 thanks to Thame Town Council.

Groups helped included Oxfordshire Association for the Blind, Thame Swimming Club, Thame Activity Day Service, Thame Food Festival, Thame Twinning, Coram Life Education Thames Valley, Citizens Advice Bureau.

Annual bike day staged

RESIDENTS are being urged to get on their bikes and take part in a host of rides for the whole family.

Bicester's fifth annual bike and family day will take place on Sunday, July 24, from 10am to 3pm.

The free event will be staged at the annex field of Bicester Community College, behind Bicester Leisure Centre, in Queens Avenue.

Among the activities is the 'Tour de Bicester', a treasure hunt-style family ride around the town which sees participants collect answers from yellow jerseys along the route in order to complete a Bicester-themed quiz at the final leg and claim a medal.

Bicester Leisure Centre has organised a Cycling Sportive, which will run in conjunction with the bike day.

Louise Caves, A2Dominion's strategic partnership manager for north-west Bicester, said: "There will be a variety of bike ride options on the day, as well cyclo-cross racing with a challenging new course, balanceability for little ones just getting started and a ladies' Breeze ride.

"The great thing about the day is that it has grown year upon year into a bike festival for the town and really does offer something for everyone in the local community – not just avid cyclists. For those that are just wanting to enjoy a fun-filled family day out, there will also be a number of other activities on the day including face painting, crafts, a toddlers' inflatable activity centre and a tasty barbecue.

"We are always looking for ways to encourage people to live healthier lifestyles and. Bicester Bike Day is a fun way for us to do this."

For more information about the event, view nwbicester.co.uk or call 0800 298 7040.

From it's simple musical session over an afternoon the festival has grown to a three day monster that draws 20,000 fans to see up to twenty different bands that cover a wide range of music.

This year's headliners for the 38th festival include

Gryphon the legendary British prog-folk band, on its first visit to Cropredy with an exhilarating mix of old and new material. Hayseed Dixie giving American bluegrass a rocking edge with their hillbilly versions of classic rock songs. and UK legends Madness performing hit after hit from their 35 year career.

Friday will see Steeleye Span make a welcome return to Cropredy, closely followed by the headlining Bootleg Beatles.

Closing date: Friday, July 22

As ever Saturday will start with Richard Digance with the day featuring a wide range of music from artists as diverse as Maia, Gilmore & Roberts and Babylon Circus before Ralph McTell takes the last spot before Fairport Convention and Guests' 2 hour headlining set.

If it was just the music it would be enough but Cropredy also has an amazing relaxed atmosphere that is unequalled at any other UK summer event. This year the festival runs from Thursday the 11th to Saturday 13th of August. For more details and to book tickets visit www.fairportconvention.com

We have a family ticket pack for the weekend for one lucky winner who will get to enjoy three days of good music and real ale. The ticket pack includes a pair of adult weekend tickets, camping ticket and up to three under 12 child tickets.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

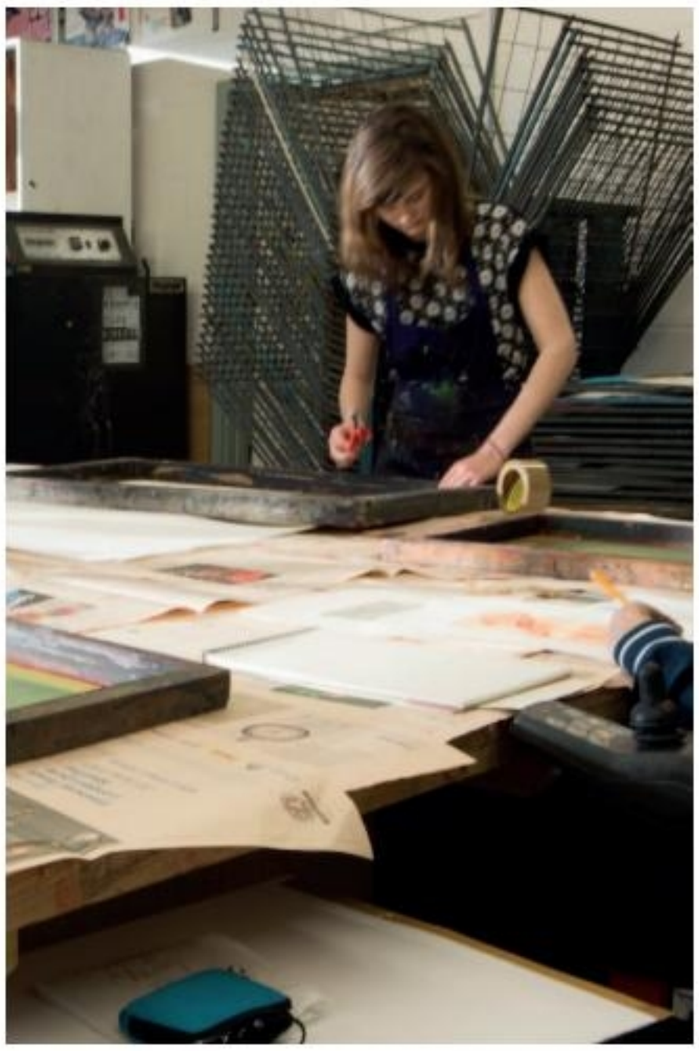
Swindon College has achieved the QAA standard for Higher Education



Swindon College is the largest provider of Higher Education in Swindon, with a range of courses at Degree Level.

At Swindon College more students are seeing the benefits of studying at a local college that fits in with their work and family commitments.

As well as lower fees, you could benefit from smaller class sizes with dedicated tutors, allowing more individual support. We have knowledgeable library staff who can help with researching and referencing and a dedicated Higher Education Student Centre, with study spaces and a social area.

All of our programmes are designed with employment in mind and link directly back to the workplace. On successful completion of your course, you'll have the opportunity to don a gown and mortar board for the official Graduation Ceremony.

Did you know that even if you have no or few academic qualifications, but would like to proceed to a degree course or on to professional training you can do an Access Diploma course. The course is studied full time over one academic year and includes subjects necessary for successful completion of the Diploma and entry to higher level study.

If you have not yet enrolled on a course for September - it's not too late to apply!

Lost in the Wilderness

EXPECT to hear some incredible music, watch some unique theatre and taste some unorthodox food when Wilderness Festival returns to Oxfordshire for 2016.

The festival with a difference aims to slip off your shoes, settle you down and showcase the best of who we are, where we belong and what we create.

And it's back at Cornbury Park near Charlbury from Thursday, August 4, until Sunday, August 7.

It's not all about music, with lakes to swim in, feasts to be eaten and art in action to watch. But surely a festival would not be complete without it?

By James Richings

Newcastle-based group The Baghdaddies, will be among the performances during day two, August 5.

"I've been into music for as long as I can remember an I grew up in communes where bands played and festivals were held," guitarist Ziad Jabero told the Guardian.

"My uncle got me a guitar when I was little and the biggest inspirations when I was growing up were the local musicians around me, but I liked the Beatles, Bob Marley and U-roy.

"Whenever we perform, we always aim to bring exuberance and energy and to get the crowd dancing."

Joining Ziad is Paul Ruddick on the saxophone, trumpeter Nigel Kirkpatrick, Paul Susans on the bass, and Nik Alevroyiannis also on the guitar.

The band has a strong southern and eastern European sound. So why pick a name after the capital of Iraq?

"Our original drummer's dad came up with the name as we were playing music from the Middle East and we were quite humourous in our performances so the name suited us," Ziad said.

And it's with this worldliness that the five friends are playing at the festival, following on from a concert in Pennabilli, Italy, last month.

"That was most probably the best gig we have ever head," he said.

"The atmosphere was amazing and it was a beautiful place in the sun."

He added: "I think its vital that young people go and watch live music.

"It's a chance for them to learn about performing and they can experience the energy which is created at gigs."

Henley Festival: A review

THIS year's Henley Festival was one to remember.

Legendary musicians such as Elton John and Dame Shirley Bassey graced South Oxfordshire with their presence from Thursday, July 6 to Sunday, July 10 - the latter joined by classical trio, Blake.

And it is easy to forget the icon celebrated her 79th birthday this year, as she breezed onto the stage in a tight fitting sequin dress, and rocked those big vocals she is famous for.

Blake had performed a brief set before her appearance and then jostled for stage presence as they joined together to sing 'Anything I Can Do', and got the whole festival singing along to a final belter of 'Hey Jude'.

Made up of Oliver Baines, Stephen Bowman and Humphrey Berney, all friends since childhood, the band showed off the strong vocals which saw them land a number one album.

And with it having been the first time in five years since the group returned to the festival, they revealed their set on The Floating Stage was special.

"With Henley it is the audience; they dress even smarter than we do; it is the premier festival of the world," said Stephen.

"It is just amazing to be here in such an English setting and to be here with Dame Shirley Bassey is something we will never forget, I'm still shaking from the sound check when they started playing Goldfinger. It really is a career highlight."

By Alex Iszatt

Oliver, who is from Oxford, added: "There is that sense of the homecoming. I grew up just down the road from Didcot. We have all got our families here tonight."

> "With Henley it is the audience; they dress even smarter than we do"

He added: "And if I could ever perform with someone like Elton John would be an incredible opportunity.

"Watching how he works the audience is incredible, so fingers crossed and in terms of pop singers, Paloma Faith could work quite well.

"But we are taking it as it comes and we are incredibly lucky and we are living in this moment."

Sunday was Will Young's turn on the main stage, exiting from the back in what he described as and 'eiderdown' he got the audience moving with classics 'Leave Right Now' and 'Evergreen'.

A quick clothes change and he returned to a standing ovation while driving an glittery electric wheelchair, with a keyboard attached.

Quick witted Will got the audience on side with his stories of his family's history; his dad had lived just across the river, and had a penchant for guessing if the ladies of Henley Festival were wearing underwear.

The crowd was saddened to hear that Will had not been successful with a waiter at one of the festivals illustrious restaurants

A great set, and an amazing atmosphere; as the fireworks bursted to mark the close of the five day spectacular, festival organisers can sleep well knowing another great year was put to bed.

ENTERTAINMENT & LISTINGS

Not for those with a stiff upper lip

By James Richings

THIS show comes with a warning; it contains traces of nuts.

And the clue comes in the title.

'Puppetry of the Penis' is making its way to Oxford's New Theatre on Friday, July 15.

Fresh from the city of sin itself, Las Vegas, two near naked men (they wear shoes) manipulate their nether regions through what they describe as 'the ancient art of genital origami'; creating a hilarious array of shapes and impersonations projected onto a huge video screen.

Thought up by comedians David Friend and Simon Morley, the show is designed to live long in the memory, for better or for worse.

"We just go out there and have as much fun as possible, but are aware of the social implications of what we do," Simon told the Guardian.

"There is a lot shame and power attached to the male gentalia and lets be honest, its the most ridiculous looking part of the human anatomy.

"It's like God just gave up at the end there, but to laugh at a man's manhood can have catastrophic results.

"At the very least you will crush and scar him mentally, and in many parts of the world it could end in violence.

"We are saying, 'It's a piece of skin - get over it, but feel free to belly laugh at it for an hour'."

But 'Puppetry of the Penis', Simon insists, isn't as sexual as you may think.

First performed back in 1998 at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, it became a big hit with crowds when Simon and David used CGI, videos and sometimes their own 'props' to form some whacky shapes with their own manhood.

"Some people find our show quite liberating, some find it educational, but most just hilarious," Simon said.

"I regularly see a nana in the crowd doubled over with tears streaming down her cheeks.

"Now that's job satisfaction."

The show has toured in 35 countries since 1998.

It does contain full frontal male nudity and is suitable for over 18s.

Tickets cost £24.40 and the show starts at 7.30pm.

Cornbury Festival review

AS Tunde Baiyewu from the Lighthouse Family sang 'The Sun's Going to Shine On Everything You Do", I couldn't help feeling how appropriate this vocal accolade has become for Cornbury Festival organiser Hugh Phillimore.

By Sacha Taylor-Cox

Almost 20,000 people invaded Chipping Norton's Great Tew Park from Friday, July 8 to Sunday, July 10, but they certainly seemed to be the happiest invaders ever encountered.

Tunde's lyrics held true with the tiniest light shower on Sunday, the only dampener on an otherwise blue skied, sunny weekend.

Cornbury festival, affectionately known by us locals as Poshstock, is now in it's 13th year. But with no hint of bad luck the line up was surely one of it's best yet.

Australian duo The Pierce Brothers, who Phillimore believes are 'something rather special', flew from across the world to open the main stage on Sunday.

The two rhythmic brothers multitasked their instruments playing a didgeridoo, accordion, guitars, vocals and an assortment of drums and shakers, while dancing like firecrackers.

Other new acts very worthy of a mention included the excellent Orlando Seale and The Swell on The Riverside Stage on Saturday afternoon,

With a fusion of folk and electronica, with ironic lyrics and a post punk attitude, lead singer Orlando revealed his delight at performing at this year's festival.

"It is a very large and friendly family fete that just happens to have A-list icons for headliners," he said.

"Our top moment was seeing the little kids running to the foot of the stage miming guitar shapes to our songs".

And as well as famous names such as Seal, Lemar and The Zombies arriving at Cornbury, there were also a few well-known faces in the crowd.

Angus Deayton was spotted enjoying Orlando's set, Jeremy Clarkson was beaming away during Corinne Bailey Rae's stellar performance, Dougie Pointer from McFly was partying to James Morrison and comedian Dom Joly was seen enjoying a coffee at Café Nero for a special acoustic set by '60s icons The Zombies.

Londoner Phil Knox Roberts, who attended the festival along with his seven-year-old daughter, said: "The music was great.

"The three music stages had no music overlapping which made it easier to see every band you want and suited to most tastes.

"I particularly liked the pop-up Waitrose where you could sit down properly and have a pizza.

"But the issue with any festival is always keeping the little ones amused and this is where Cornbury really comes into its own.

"The fair had everything you'd expect and probably more.

"Helter Skelter, crazy rides, wild looking stuff for older kids and young adults, and the actual proper kids area was full of interesting and thankfully time consuming events and pastimes you might not normally expect."

And as well as music, comedy was also a big hit.

South Londoner Dane Baptise even managed to make Excel spreadsheets sound fun, whilst Nish Kumar's highbrow humour tackles race issues in the manner of a country gent whilst newcomer Tom Ward reminisced over the delights of the '80s.

Sophie Thompson from Chipping Norton, who attended with husband Mark, their three children and family friends, revealed: "This is our second time at Cornbury and we love it.

"There is so much for us and our three children to see and do and they were smiling and laughing throughout the weekend."

Pet Feature

A trip to the Vet!

Top cat transportation tips from the Oxford Cat Clinic team

• Choose a carrier that is strong and secure, big enough for your cat to lie comfortably, but not fall about inside, not too big that they feel insecure. A cat loose in the car is illegal and liable to escape. Know your carrier – a struggling cat and an instruction manual is not good!

• One carrier one cat! Even the best of friends fall out if stressed.

• Top loading carriers are easier to use. A removable top section allows your cat to sit in the familiar bottom half during the vet examination.

• A plastic or wire carrier is easier to clean should your cat have a toileting mishap! Put something absorbent at the bottom, just in case

• Young cats - have the carrier out in plain view as a place to sleep, have treats etc. Older cats associate carriers with bad experiences. Don't keep it hidden away, its sudden appearance can trigger anxiety and panic.

• Spray a calming pheromone such as "Feliway" into the carrier 15 minutes before you put the cat in. Anti- nausea tablets (supplied by your vet) can be given a few hours before travelling if your cat suffers from travel sickness.

• Don't feed your cat before travelling.

• Use a familiar smelling towel to wrap your scaredy cat in, quickly place both the cat and the towel in the carrier.

• Cover the carrier. Anchor the carrier in the car with seatbelt. Drive steadily. Radio off. Watch the weather! Never leave your cat unattended in a car.

• Home visits – if travelling is just too stressful ask your vet about a home visit

REMEMBER!

Cats read minds... they detect our tension and anxiety!

Leave plenty of time, remain calm!

Your first attempt is your best chance.

Animals in need day

FOR the first time ever, this year, Sunshine Cat Rescue will host an animals in need day at Shipton -under -Wychwood on the 16th July. The idea is to have as many animal charity's as possible together in one place and make it a fun family day for everyone as well as making money to help needy animals.

The day will include Crocodiles of the world, a fun dog show, lots of stalls, refreshments, face painting, and a chance to meet Charlie the cat our animals in need mascot.

This has long been a dream of mine says Lou Tyack spokesperson for Sunshine Cat Rescue, all rescues work so hard every year to help as many animals as possible and we still know we don't reach them all. My idea is to get together and see if we can help each other,by swopping ideas and helping out with space to take animals in for each other.

We would like to make a day every year for animals in need but first we need to see how this one goes!

So come along and enjoy the day and help all the animals in need.

DS3 Cabrio to challenge the Mini

• The new DS3 Cabrio

WHEN the Citroen DS3 first entered the market in 2010, it was met with, well, let's say not much tail wagging, but more head shaking. The reason? Well, that's simple, many people remember the old DS and many were struggling to see the significance.

By Anthony Yates

Back in the day, the original DS was chic and iconic and many people thought the Citroen DS3 looked ugly and had no place using the iconic DS branding, but that soon changed - because it sold like hot cakes soon after launch and became a sales success.

Finally in 2016, there was a branding change away from Citroen because DS Automobiles wanted that upper-market theme to shine through on all its core line-up models and with that change, the now-rebranded DS3 was finally free to compete with the very niche-looking BMW Mini.

POWER AND EFFICIENCY:

Engine: 1598cc petrol engine with 120kW of power (165HP) and 240Nm of torque is a good starting point, although I am not a fan of the petrol engines in this model and I would always pick the diesel version if it was available. But if you are in the market for a petrol version, then the 120kw engine is the one that offers the most refinement. Fuel consumption comes in at about 50mpg combined and CO_2 emissions of about 129g/km, although I have to say the DS3 0-62 time of 7.6sec is very respectable indeed.

ON THE ROAD:

Being a Cabrio, you would expect it to be very floppy and soft into the corners, but you would be wrong. The DS engineers have adding a lot of body stiffing into DS3's chassis and it actually felt very well planted, even in some of the hard-cornering areas, although I would of liked a bit more feedback from the steering and a little bit more feel as to what the road surface beneath me is doing.

INTERIOR & TECHNOLOGY

I'm only going to talk about the DS3's party piece- that clever niche Cabrio roof system. According to the booklet that comes with the car, it clearly stated that it only takes '16 seconds to transform DS 3 Cabrio from a cosy coupe to sophisticated sun trap with the push of a simple button on the centre console, you can open or close the roof at speeds of up to 70mph'. OK, groovy, but what about the technology then? The new DS 3 benefits from a centrally-mounted seven-inch touchscreen, along with cruise control, RDS radio with six speakers and AUX socket, DAB digital radio, Bluetooth handsfree and media streaming with USB socket. Add in Mirror Screen and you have the ability to use Apple CarPlay and MirrorLink for Android to seamlessly mirror compatible smartphones on the vehicle's touchscreen.

SAFETY:

ABS with Electronic Brakeforce Distribution, Emergency Braking Assistance, Electronic Stability Control (ESC) Switchable on THP versions, Hill Start Assist function, Active City Brake, driver and passenger front lateral and curtain airbags, remote central locking with deadlocks, two rear ISOFIX mounting points and factory-fitted immobiliser and alarm.

TO SUM UP:

I like it. I don't like the boot as it's a little small, but it's still a better size than a Mini. In fact, it may be even better than a Mini all round. Now there's a surprise.

No points for county's teams after tricky GP

By Adam Flinn

IT was a disappointing home race for Oxfordshire's Formula One teams as Williams, Renault, Haas and Manor all failed to score any points at Silverstone on Sunday.

Only the two Williams drivers of Felipe Massa and Valtteri Bottas and the Haas of Esteban Gutierrez managed to make it to the end of the 52-lap race, which was blighted by a downpour moments before the start.

The safety car headed the field for the opening laps before peeling off into the pits as the track began to dry.

Pascal Wehlein in the Manor was the first casualty of the afternoon however, as after changing to the intermediate tyre he hit a particularly damp patch at turn one and was pitched into the gravel trap.

Further up the order Bottas, who had started sixth, was running in ninth after his first pit-stop and was chasing Massa, but made a mistake going into the Club chicane and spun, dropping him outside the points.

Romain Grosjean and Rio Haryanto also dropped out of the race for Haas and Manor, while Massa struggled to hold on in the lower reaches of the top-10.

He made a late stop for the soft tyres on lap 38 and fell back to 13th, eventually fighting his way back up to 11th by the end.

Meanwhile Renault had a torrid afternoon as both cars were forced to retire in the second half of the race with gearbox troubles, although Kevin Magnussen and Jolyon Palmer were well outside the points when they stopped.

Bottas eventually came home in 14th, while Gutierrez propped up the field in 16th place behind the Sauber of Felipe Nasr.

"It was a race to forget," said Rob Smedley, Williams' head of performance engineering.

"The rain at the start made our decisions more difficult, but we made the correct calls, and didn't do anything vastly different to anybody else, apart from our extra stop with Felipe.

"The car just wasn't quick enough to make any more progress in the race."

Fred Vasseur, team principal for Renault, added: "It was a difficult race for us and we will be looking into what caused a double retirement.

"Both Kevin and Jolyon had been driving well until then, but our pace was not strong enough."

At the front, Lewis Hamilton strolled to his second race victory in a row for Mercedes in front of his home crowd.

His team-mate Nico Rosberg followed him home in second, but a post-race penalty dropped him to third, elevating Red Bull Racing's Max Verstappen up a spot.

The next race is the Hungarian Grand Prix on July 24.

Teams straight back to work with test session

THE Formula One teams were back in action at Silverstone for a two-day test on Tuesday and yesterday following Sunday's British Grand Prix.

Rain on Tuesday afternoon curtailed the first day of running, with Oxford-based racer and Williams development driver Alex Lynn setting the third fastest time of 1:34.433.

He completed 54 laps for the Grove outfit as the team tried out some new components on the car and different mechanical setups.

Haas' 18-year-old American development driver Santino Ferrucci chalked off 55 laps, ending less than half a second behind Lynn in seventh with a best lap of 1:34.866.

Rio Haryanto was ninth for Manor with a fastest lap of 1:35.631, while Sergey Sirotkin was a second behind in 10th for Renault with a 1:36.575.

They completed 64 and 48 laps respectively.

By the lunch break yesterday, Renault's Jolyon Palmer was highest up the order of the Oxfordshire teams, with his 1:33.470 putting him fourth.

Ferrucci was sixth on 1:33.934, Valtteri Bottas 10th for Williams on 1:36.280, and Jordan King 11th for Manor on 1:37.417.

The test was continuing as the Guardian went to press.

Lynn struggles with tyres at home race

OXFORD GP2 racing driver Alex Lynn had a home race to forget as he finished well outside the points in both races at Silverstone on Saturday and Sunday.

After qualifying 15th, the DAMS driver ended the feature race 16th on Saturday, before improving slightly to 14th in the sprint race the following morning.

Race one got off to a bad start for Lynn as, when two cars speared off into the gravel at turn one in front of him, the Williams F1 development driver was left with nowhere to go but to run wide.

After recovering he ran on the tail of the main pack, but had no pace after changing to the hard tyre and ended up 16th.

Race two wasn't much better, despite Lynn picking up a decent start to get up to 12th in the early stages.

However he struggled with the tyre degradation again and lost a couple of spots, ending the weekend without any points.

"This is a difficult period, and we have to keep our confidence up across the team that we can recover this," said Lynn.

"After all, it's only a few weekends since I was winning at the first round of the season at Barcelona, and I even took a podium last time out at the Red Bull Ring.

"I'm also encouraged when I look at the points. I've scored only 10 points over the past six races, but everyone else has been so inconsistent that I'm still only 28 off the top.

"That could be made up with one pole and one win."

Downs win derby as Vale are victorious

OXFORD Downs beat Oxford 2nds in the Cherwell Cricket League 2 on Saturday.

The 2nds started badly with the bat, as the Downs' Harry Sutton claimed six wickets and Johnny Law took four, notching up just 105 from 33 overs.

With the challenge set for the Downs, James Ellwood put in a strong 52 runs off just 31 balls, with Amin Rafiq (19) also scoring highly, before they achieved their target to win the match by four wickets.

Elsewhere in the division, Abingdon Vale beat Challow and Childrey by 16 runs.

The visitors made a great start with opening batsman Amith Premkumar hitting 59 runs, including eight fours, before being caught out by John Pechey.

Vale's Tim Chilvers then took over from Premkumar to add a further 25 runs before being caught out.

Adam Scholey and Graham Charlesworth notched up a partnership of 19, before George Trewby, who claimed six wickets in total for Challow, bowled them out as well, as Abingdon finished on 154.

Joe Butcher then opened the bowling well for Abingdon, seeing Justin Penrose and John Pechey dismissed for just four runs between them.

Despite Ryan Gordon hitting 30 runs of 31 balls, along with Shaun Burningham (23) and Mark Foster (24) for Challow and Childrey, it wasn't enough to catch Abingdon, as they finished all out on 136.

Rio bound Clarke only Oxfordshire athlete

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE'S Lawrence Clarke will be the county's only athletics representative after Hannah England and Nathan Douglas failed to make the cut.

Watlington's 110m hurdler Clarke had already qualified for Rio, having dipped under the qualifying standard in Birmingham back in June.

The 26-year-old placed fourth in London's 2012 games four years ago.

But Oxford City duo England and Douglas faced an anxious wait to discover their fate, as British Athletics yesterday announced their team for the Games in Rio, which begins on August 5.

Selectors met in London on Tuesday to thrash out the final details of the squad.

All the athletes who finished in the top two at the British trials and are in possession of the requisite Olympic standard are guaranteed to join them.

Middle-distance runner England has yet to run the standard of 4mins 7secs for the 1,500m and was 0.78 off that time at Kortrijk, in Belgium, at the weekend.

The former world silver medallist has had a tough few years, having suffered an Achilles injury and then illness, and was dropped from lottery funding in November.

Triple jumper Douglas was unable to record the standard of 16.85m at the European Championships last week

And this is despite Douglas winning his fourth British Championship – his first since 2007 – two weeks ago.

Clarke tweeted last week: "Missed out on the Euro final by 0.001 of a second! dang! Next stop Rio - The hunger is there!"

London 2012 gold medal winners Mo Farah, Jessica Ennis-Hill and Greg Rutherford are all included, despite not competing in the trials.

Medallists in 2012 Christine Ohuruogu, who also won Olympic gold at Beijing 2008, and Robbie Grabarz also return and will again compete in the 400m and high jump respectively while Jo Pavey is set to compete in her fifth Olympic Games in the 10,000m.

Athletics Team Leader Neil Black said: "I'm very excited by this group of athletes and what I think we can achieve in Rio.

"This is the best prepared and arguably strongest team we have ever selected. We believe the world class level of performances this group can achieve will see us challenging for a number of places on the podium."

Jess Ennis-Hill said: "Everything's coming together now and I'm feeling good. Training over the past few weeks has been going well. If I was able to defend my title in Rio it will be one of my greatest achievements."

Oxford RL end season with defeat to All Golds

OXFORD RL marked the end of a dismal campaign with a high-scoring 52-34 defeat at home to University of Gloucestershire All Golds.

The Blues scored seven tries in the Kingstone Press League 1 clash at Tilsley Park, but it was not enough to overcome their visitors, who scored 10.

The All Golds were inspired by a club record of four tries from back rower Joe McClean, who had a hat-trick on the board in 15 minutes.

Oxford were chasing a 10-point deficit at the break and forced it back to just a single score.

The visitors threatened to run away again during the second half, but could never totally shake off a gutsy Oxford side until Phil Cowburn's interception try with 17 minutes left.

Oxford's Daniel Igbinedion set up two tries for Jordan Gill that helped the home side back in the game when they were looking overrun.

A 90-metre special from Luke Gardiner after he picked up a loose ball under his own posts brought them right back into the game.

But just when the hosts looked to have the upper hand, Phil Cowburn scored in controversial fashion for the visitors after Luke Stephens had allegedly knocked on.

Oxford finished second from bottom and now head into the end-of-season Shield, which is contested between the sides who come ninth to 15th in the table.

Seven in a row for Oxford Saints

OXFORD Saints returned from a successful shark hunt with a 28-10 victory over the Cornish Sharks at the Treviglas Sports Hub on Sunday.

A long rivalry between the Saints and the Newquay team remained feisty as always, with Oxford coming out clear winners in a decisive second half performance.

The event was a special occasion for the home side, who were marking their 100th game.

Following the two big early gains from the hosts, the Saints defence took control with linebacker Calvin Holmes tackling the ball carrier for no gain.

On 4th down, Sharks kicker David Kriehn got points on the board with a 37-yard field goal going through the middle of the uprights.

But soon after the Saints evened the score with a 25-yard field goal by first year kicker Sam Fielden.

Maulding crossed over the goal line and picked up the score, before James Walter struck hard soon after with a 37-yard touchdown run, to extend the lead to 16-3.

The experience of the Oxford offence proved too much for the faltering Sharks to handle, as Maulding hammered in a pass for 17 yards to Sam Armstrong, followed up by a big 37 yard run from James Walter.

As the 3rd quarter came to a close, the 4th quarter saw both teams exchanging drives with but with no further scores.

Oxford remain top of the Division II South West conference with a 7-0 record and the Saints have now confirmed a quarter final place with the first round of playoffs scheduled on August 21.

New look Oxford United side get set for the step up

Pre-season in Spain

• Oxford United players with fans at the game against Alhaurin de la Torre (picture courtesy of oufc.co.uk)

By George Welch

OXFORD United kicked off their pre-season campaign with a 1-1 draw away at non-league Solihull Moors before jetting off to Spain to continue their preparations for League One.

Wes Thomas put Michael Appleton's men ahead with virtually his first touch in an Oxford shirt, clipping smartly past the hosts' 'keeper from an Alex MacDonald pass on 53 minutes.

But a Lewis Hayden equaliser for the National League new boys soon after made it honours even in a well-contested friendly on Saturday.

United gave the full squad a run out barring Callum O'Dowda through illness, with a first-half 11 completely replaced at the break, other than winger Jonny Giles.

New signings Aaron Martin, Christian Ribeiro and Dan Crowley all played the first 45 minutes with Simon Eastwood, Curtis Nelson and Thomas coming on for the second period.

Appleton's new-look squad flew out to Spain the following day and endured a tough day of training on Monday with temperatures well into the 30s.

The U's then took on Spanish fourth division side Alhaurin de la Torre in Málaga on Tuesday, recording a 2-0 win in front of 600 Oxford fans willing to go the distance to see how the team is shaping up.

Goals from two of their home grown players, Josh Ashby and James Roberts, sealed the win on the south coast.

New signings Chris Maguire and Joe Rothwell flew in too late to play but arrived five minutes into the game and would have been impressed by the performance of their new team-mates.

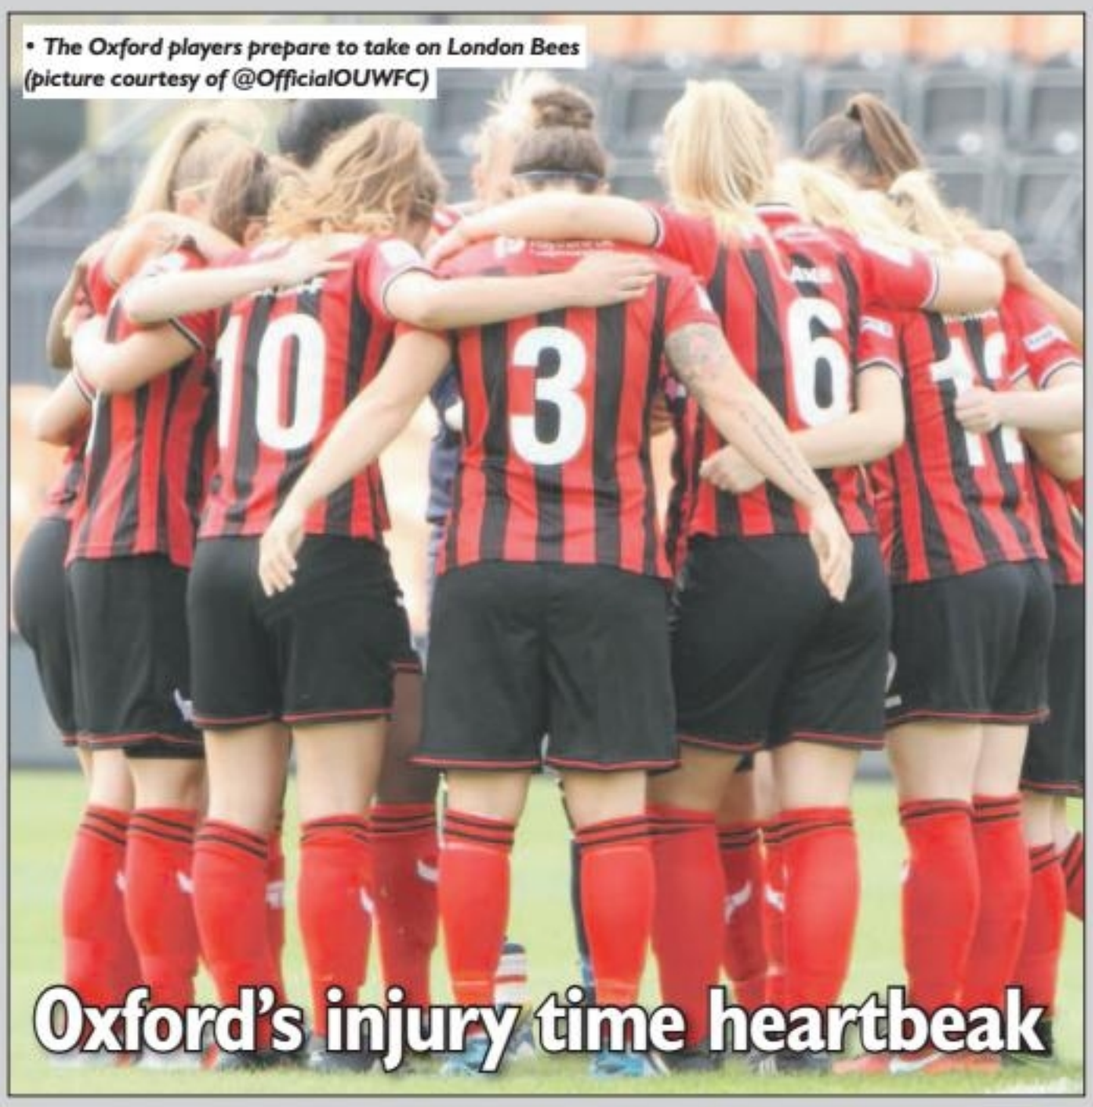
Tomorrow evening will come the focal point of the week, a game against Spanish third-tier side UD Marbella, with the match taking place at United's training base at La Cala.

O'Dowda was noticeably missing in Spain as transfer speculation intensifies. But U's chairman Darryl Eales has said the club does not want to sell.

The squad will travel back to England this weekend before taking on last season's Premier League champions Leicester City at the Kassam Stadium next Tuesday evening.

After that, Appleton's side will face Brighton and Hove Albion at home with Barnet away on July 30 concluding the pre-season schedule.

The season's opener on August 6 at home to Chesterfield is now just over three weeks away.



• The Oxford players prepare to take on London Bees (picture courtesy of @OfficialOUWFC)

Oxford's injury time heartbeak

TWO injury time goals sent Oxford United women to a heart-breaking 3-1 defeat away to London Bees at the Hive stadium on Sunday.

Ini Umotong's goal on 82 minutes looked to have secured a point for the visitors, but Diane Cooper grabbed a second Bees' goal on 90 minutes before Jo Wilson rounded off the victory.

Bees' skipper Goddard had given the hosts the lead just before half time, heading home from a yard out to convert a quickly taken Paula Howells free kick.

On the balance of play, the London side deserved their lead, with the Bees creating the better chances in the FA Women's Super League 2.

Confusion in the Oxford backline in the first 10 minutes presented Nicola Watts the opportunity to take an early lead but the 28-year-old striker could only hit the post.

It looked like the game would end 1-0 until Lauren Allison cleverly squared to Umotong, who chipped the ball over Imogen Riches for her ninth goal in 11 matches.

But a Bees free-kick was not cleared by the Oxford defence in the 90th minute and the ball fell to Cooper to smash into the roof of the net from eight yards.

But the hosts still had time for a third when Wilson was played through on goal and had the composure to find the bottom corner for her eighth goal of the season.

Meanwhile, United's under-17 'keeper Lucy Thomas was called up to the England under-17 squad for a training camp this week, joining U's first team defender Riva Casley in the side.

Pepperell falls away following strong start at Scottish Open

OXFORDSHIRE'S Eddie Pepperell will be disappointed after a tied 54th finish at last week's Scottish Open, a result that drops him in the world rankings.

The Abingdon golfer had fired himself into a commanding position, heading into the weekend in joint second place.

At the halfway stage, Pepperell was a stroke behind the leader – and playing partner for Thursday and Friday – Alex Noren. The Swede went on to win in Inverness on -14.

Pepperell secured a halfway second place with -7, after shooting an impressive 67 on day two.

It was the third occasion in his European Tour career he has been placed tied second or better at halfway – and he is yet to complete the win.

The 25-year-old shot 70, 67, 76 and 74 to finish -1 at Castle Stuart.

Pepperell, who led last year's Open at St Andrews midway through the first round, shot an eagle at the 12th and four birdies to record -5 in his second round.

Of the top 12 players of the tournament, the top four who had not already qualified earned a place in the field at Royal Troon.

This means Pepperell will not be attending this years' Open, the third major of the year in the golfing calendar and will not have a shot at the £1.1m prize.

Pepperell, who this time last year was preparing for his first Open Championship, has dropped eight places to 162 in the world.

Carterton U14s, which only started last September, also play Futsal.

The team are currently looking for players to strengthen their squad for the new 2016/2017 season.

They will be the U15s age group (school year 10 from September 2016).

Rider qualifies

EQUESTRIAN: A Banbury rider has qualified for the Horse of the Year Show (HOYS).

Jo Bates qualified for the HOYS at the SEIB Insurance Broker's Racehorse to Riding Horse 2016 qualifier held at Bury Farm Equestrian Centre in Slapton, Buckinghamshire, on July 3.

Bates won the hotly-contested class aboard Sophie Tranter's 11-year-old elegant bay gelding Bang on Trend.

The HOYS will take place from October 5 to 9 at the Birmingham NEC.

Hero honoured

ICE HOCKEY: Oxford City Stars have named another stand after a club hero for match days at the Oxford Ice Rink in Oxpens.

The Dan Prachar stand has been named after fans voted him as their favourite player of the 1990s.

As a Stars player, Prachar, who amassed 32 per cent of the vote, played 194 games, scoring 403 goals and 334 assists making him the team's highest ever point scorer.

Prachar joined the club in 1989 and helped the Stars lift the league title in 1990/91.

New signings

FOOTBALL: Oxford City have announced three new signings in preparation of the new season.

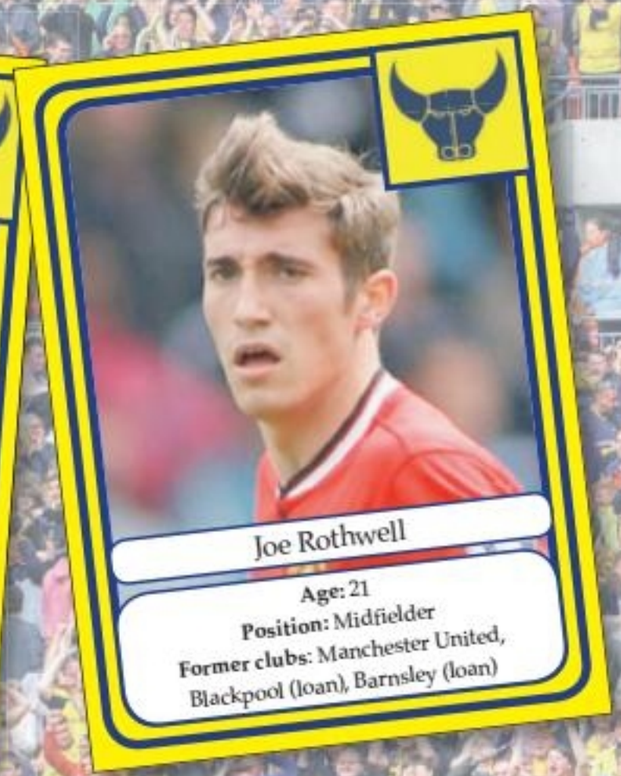
Two in, two out at Oxford United



AS the squad headed to Malaga for the club's pre-season tour in Spain, the transfer market's revolving door was in full swing.

Leaving the Kassam stadium are star forward Kemar Roofe, who has departed for Leeds United, and captain Jake Wright, who left the club by mutual consent.

But Chris Maguire and Manchester United trainee Joe Rothwell have both signed for the club and flown out to Spain to join the rest of the squad.

Roofe, 23, had been linked with a summer transfer to Yorkshire over the last month and the U's set his valuation at around £3m.

The transfer, which is a record fee received for Oxford United, is officially undisclosed.

The former West Bromwich Albion youngster scored 26 goals last season as United won promotion from League Two, and he subsequently attracted plenty of interest from clubs in higher divisions.

Wright, who was at the club for six years and made 278 appearances, oversaw the U's' return to the Football League and promotion campaign to League One last season.

He was deemed surplus to requirements by head coach Michael Appleton after the signings of fellow defenders Curtis Nelson and Aaron Martin.

The 30-year-old, who signed permanently from Brighton and Hove Albion in 2010 following a successful loan spell, has joined up with former Oxford manager Chris Wilder at League One rivals Sheffield United.

Midfielder John Lundstram has been appointed as the club's new captain, despite the 22-year-old only joining Appleton's side from Everton a year ago.

Meanwhile, Maguire was offered a new deal at the club in May after scoring four goals in 24 starts, but he took his time in re-signing.

The Scot scored vital goals as the U's won promotion from League Two and has signed a one-year deal.

Midfielder Rothwell, 21, joins on a two-year deal from Manchester United having turned down a contract extension at Old Trafford, where he had been since the age of six.

There has been speculation over the future of Republic of Ireland international Callum O'Dowda but the club insists his absence from Spain is due to illness.
